Member Benefits

To keep members abreast, SARI offers a number of interactive educational opportunities, including:

- Bi-monthly breakfast meetings featuring guest speakers from a variety of industries who offer insight and analysis on the top issues facing safety professionals today.
- An inside look at the workings, policies and procedures of area manufacturing facilities through periodic plant tours.
- Meaningful advice and support from other members in the safety community who can share information and personal experiences.
- Downloadable presentations and articles on timely topics authored by members and local and national experts available through the SARI website.
- An annual evening social networking event for members and guests at a popular locale.

Mission Statement

The Safety Association of RI, Inc. (also known as SARI) is organized to bring to its members national viewpoints and local expertise in the fields of safety, occupational health and environmental management.

Our membership includes a diverse group of professionals from the construction, manufacturing, energy and health services industries in Rhode Island and nearby Massachusetts and Connecticut who share their insights and experiences.

The exchange of information and ideas between members provides a unique opportunity to work together to address and solve the safety challenges facing business and industry today.

About the Safety Association of Rhode Island

Since 1949, SARI has been dedicated to providing professionals in Southern New England the resources and information they need to stay current on the latest developments in safety and occupational health.
